LOCAL ORGANIZATION JOINS UNITED STATES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

It Will Thus Be Able to Command All the Resources of the Great National Organization and Receive Its Publications and Statistical Information

The chamber of commerce directorate had its customary weekly luncheon on Tuesday, at 12 m. at the bungalow of the domestic science department of the high school. Covers were laid for President Cooper, Vice President Smith, Secretary Rhoades, and Directors Lusby, Newton, White, Kent, Packer and Gregg.

Director White as chairman of a special auto park committee, reported an auto park conference which he attended on behalf of the chamber, March 17. He stated that the sentiment at that conference crystallized into a demand for uniform regulation of such parks and a second conference had been called for April 12 at Long Beach. The directorate approved the report and requested Mr. White to add to members of his committee and attend the Long Beach meeting.

Secretary Rhoades made an itemized financial report from the beginning of the campaign February 8 to date, which showed total income from dues, $8720.31; general expenses, $2245.55; campaign expenses, $2725.78; total expenses, $4971.33; balance in bank or checks on hand, $3748.98.

The application of Mrs. Edgar Leavitt for reserve membership was presented by the secretary and favorably acted upon by directorate.

Instructions relative to taking out a membership in the United States chamber of commerce and also in the National Association of Commercial Secretaries was requested by the secretary, who stated that membership in the organization first named would cost about $45 a year, and in the second $10 a year. He stated that the United States chamber has the greatest research bureau in the world and its services and findings would always be at command of the local chamber, and that its publications and statistical information would always be available.

Mr. White sustained Mr. Rhoades' recommendations, saying he had this year received several long questionnaires asking for school statistics which showed that the organization is gathering valuable information, and that we should be receiving that information. On motions made by Messrs. Kent and Lusby the secretary was instructed to make application for membership in the two organizations named.

The secretary reported active work by the committee on advertising which had made preliminary arrangements for the publication of a booklet containing statistical information which could be sent to daily inquirers, and was also planning a "trade at home" campaign. He also reported the circulation of a petition among local patrons of the Pacific Electric railway asking for a station near the Burbank limits, and that same had been referred by him to the Pacific Electric officials with a request for favorable consideration.

A large grist of bills which had accumulated since the reorganization of the chamber which had been O.K'd by the finance committee of which C. D. Lusby is chairman, were read and ordered paid.

The secretary also reported that Messrs. Van de Water and Weir, officials of the Los Angeles Credit Men's association, would be speakers at the chamber luncheon forum to be held Thursday at 12 m. at the Masonic Temple. The theme of the meeting is to be the benefit of a local credit association which is deemed highly important to the business interests of the city. Mr. Rhoades stated that he had been permitted to see a list of Glendale accounts carried by one of the large stores of Los Angeles and was appalled to see the amount of business local merchants have been losing because of the prevailing belief that credit cannot be obtained here.

W. C. T. U. MEETS WITH MRS. SIPPLE

The fact that it was April Fool's day did not keep members from turning out in large numbers to the first meeting of the Glendale W.C.T.U. at the home of Mrs. Sipple.

Mrs. A. E. Good, the new evangelistic superintendent, gave a very instructive Bible reading, the topic being, "Woman and Her Relation to the Easter Season." Woman was first at the tomb and first to tell the glad tidings of the risen Lord.

The youngest of the new members, Miss Zora Glassie, favored the union with two fine readings. After that, seven new members were enrolled.

Many important items of business were discussed. The matter of buying $10 worth of literature for the anti-narcotic society, April 10, to be distributed in all the Sunday schools in Glendale, was left to the committee of vice-presidents, and Mrs. Edith Dockera, vice-president at large, was made chairman of the committee.

Announcement was made that the new programs would not be out until after the county convention, but the following list of superintendents of departments was approved by vote of the union:

Evangelistic—Mrs. A. E. Good and Mrs. Kiem and Mrs. Loveless, honorary superintendents.

Anti-narcotic—Mrs. I. A. Ford. Flower mission—Mrs. T. L. Brown and Mrs. Edith Glassie.

Mothers' meetings and child welfare—Mrs. Della Dick.

Publicity—Mrs. Edith S. Dockera. Medical temperance—Mrs. Mary Fansett.

Southern California home—Mrs. Nanna Palmer.

Legislation—Mrs. Ruby Smart. Temperance and missions—Mrs. C. M. Bacon.

Union signals—Mrs. Florence Smith. Musical director—Mrs. I. A. Ford. Scientific temperance—Mrs. C. A. Brandstatter.

Social and red letter days—Mrs. Nanna Palmer, Mrs. Annie Sipple, Miss Good.

The week of prayer ordered by the national organization was discussed and it was voted not to observe it, but to unite instead with the churches in cottage prayer meetings.

The treasurer was ordered to renew subscriptions for the Union Signal for both city libraries. Announcement was made that any one wishing temperance literature will also find at the libraries some fine books which have been donated by the local union. A list of delegates to the convention to be held in Pasadena, April 20, 21 and 22, is to be given later.

The meeting adjourned to meet April 15, with Mrs. C. A. Brandstatter at 410 West Wilson avenue.

REGAINS VOICE AFTER THIRTY-ONE MONTHS

(By International News Service) MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 6.—After 31 months of speechlessness, Paul Robertson, Brooklyn, New York, wounded, gassed and shell shocked soldier, has found his voice.

"Faith in his power to talk," evoked the cure, declared Dr. James McLaughlin, who was called to attend Robertson yesterday when he was "feeling queer" just before the vocal chord articulated its first word in nearly three years.

"The vocal chord itself had not been damaged," said Dr. McLaughlin. "It simply happened that yesterday Robertson's subconscious, but suppressed, wish to talk found expression in the consciousness. That sort of thing is happening every day."

LOYD GEORGE AGAIN SAVES SITUATION

YELLOW AND BLUE PRENUPTIAL PARTY

Miss Ruth Wilson was guest of honor at an exceedingly pretty evening party and shower given Tuesday evening by Miss Aileen Sullivan at her home, 711 South Central avenue.

The two large front rooms of the Sullivan home were thrown open for the affair and beautifully decorated with white and pink roses. A table in the living room was outlined with unique baskets of blue and yellow, alternating, and backed with a fan bearing a cupid decoration. From each basket a streamer of the opposite color led to the chandelier above.

Particolored candies filled the baskets which also carried a card bearing the name of the honoree and her fiancé. Centering the table was a large kewpie doll dressed in blue and yellow who carried upon her arm the basket intended for Miss Wilson.

In one of the games which entertained the guests a bag of clothespins figured. Among them were three each tied with a ribbon of a different color. These colors were symbolic, and the bag was passed around for a drawing.

Miss Isabel Yates secured the pin marked with the blue ribbon which indicated that she will be the first to marry after Miss Wilson. The lavender pin, which pointed out the one who would be second to become a matron was drawn by Miss Louise Ayala, and the white ribbon, signifying spinsterhood, went to Miss Manola Budd.

After that peep into the future, paper and pencils were distributed and guests wrote suggestions for obtaining a husband which were passed to Miss Wilson and read by her. They proved very clever and amusing and the bachelors of the town will have to watch out.

Charming piano solos by Gertrude Champlain and vocal numbers by Miss Isabel Yates also entertained the company, and then a mock wedding was staged. Miss Wilson taking the part of the bride, Miss Ayala the groom, Dorothy Hunt mother of the bride, Lillian Schick the minister. All were nonsensically adorned and it was a very funny scene. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bride was asked to kneel and receive a blessing and when she did so a Japanese umbrella suspended above her head was tipped and a linen gift shower descended upon her. It was a lovely collection of dainty napery, many Madeira pieces being included.

The refreshments which came late in the evening were served by the brothers of the hostess—Albert and Robert Sullivan, assisted by Francis Gordon, and their task was as beautifully done as though they had been experienced caterers.

Ladies present were: Misses Dorothy Hunt, Manola Budd, Isabel Yates, Lillian Schick, Gertrude Champlain, Dorothy Carmack, Louise Ayala, Harriet Cook, Ruth Waters, Ruth Ryan, Ruth Spafford, Mmes. William Sullivan, W. Yates, D. W. Hunt, Berntha Wilson and R. W. Sullivan, mother of the hostess, who assisted her in entertaining, Miss Wilson and Miss Sullivan.

ENJOYABLE SURPRISE AWAITS PATRONS

Those who attend the Glendale theater tonight will be treated to an enjoyable surprise.

They will be shown a preview of a seven-reel super-western drama, John P. McCarthy's American classic, so new that its title has not even been divulged; it has never yet been shown except to the producers. This picture was inspired by the paintings of Frederick Remington, the man whose pictures are poems of the great west.

In a letter to Mr. McCarthy from one of the biggest releasing concerns of New York, this film is ranked with the very best pictures yet produced, and it is predicted that it will meet with instant favor.

The actors starring in this play will appear in person at the Glendale this evening. They are Russell Simpson, Robert McKim, Dorcas Matthews and Little Pat Moore.

"Up in Mary's Attic," with Eva Novak as the star, whimsical, fascinating and marked by clean, clever comedy, is seen tonight for the last time, as is also "Now or Never," Harold Lloyd's greatest comedy success.

Owing to the addition of the preview of this wonderful picture, the program will be too long for two shows; therefore there will be but one show tonight at the Glendale theater, and it will begin at 7:30 instead of 7, the usual time.

PROHIBITION AGENTS ON TRAIL OF A $10,000,000 RUM KING IN CHICAGO

According to Government Agents the Ring Has Operated Almost Exclusively Through Stolen or Forged Permits for the Withdrawal of Liquor.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 6.—Federal prohibition agents here today are on the trail of a $10,000,000 rum ring, which they allege has been revealed through confessions of men under arrest. Politicians, liquor dealers and capitalists are said to be involved. According to government agents the ring operated exclusively through stolen or forged permits for withdrawal of liquor from government warehouses. Approximately $10,000,000 of these bogus permits are said to have been issued.

Three men who have been arrested in connection with the ring are Walter A. Sadler, a New York stock broker; Jack Costello, an actor and James Shea, a private detective of New York.

MISSOURIANS TO FORM LOCAL CLUB

About 30 Californians who are still loyal to their old home, Missouri, gathered at Glendale union high school Tuesday evening for the preliminary organization of a Missouri Club. It is part of a "back home" movement to promote the sending of a big excursion of Los Angeles county to participate in the one hundredth anniversary of the admission of Missouri to the union. The special centennial celebration will take place in Sedalia in August.

Present last evening as chief speaker and exponent of the plan, was Mr. Stokes of Los Angeles, editor of the Golden West and president of the Missouri state society. Pasadena and many other cities of Southern California have clubs similar to the one proposed for Glendale.

A brief talk was made by Mrs. Boline of Long Beach, and several violin and vocal numbers were contributed. Mr. McLaughlin of Orange Grove avenue, was made vice-president of the club which will meet again in about two weeks to perfect organization.

METHODIST MINISTER COMMITS SUICIDE

(By International News Service)

MARIETTA, O., April 6.—Rev. J. H. Mindling, 49, minister of the Methodist Episcopal church of Waterford, near here, committed suicide in the court house at noon today. He had just stepped out of the court room where an inquest was being held on the death of his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Mindling, 19, and where he had confessed that he had performed a criminal operation that resulted in her death last Thursday.

Sheriff Roberts had started for the jail with Mindling, but left him alone for a few minutes. When he returned he found the minister lying on the floor breathing his last.

C. E. SOCIETY TO HOLD CONVENTION

The State Christian Endeavor Society, which holds its convention in Glendale in May, is a branch of the union Christian Endeavor Society whose headquarters are in Boston. From one small society started 40 years ago, the organization has spread to all countries of the world and now has societies in 50 denominations.

Dr. F. B. Meyer, pastor of one of the largest churches in London, is president of the London Christian Union, and spends one day of each week in furthering work for young people in the 400 societies of his city.

There are 35 field secretaries in Germany, and altogether, all over the world, three million Endeavorers.

WORK PROGRESSING ON TABERNACLE

Work on the tabernacle at Harvard and Orange for the Brown union evangelistic meetings goes on apace.

Committees of ladies from different churches serve noon lunches to the workers in the dining-room of the First Methodist church. Yesterday 20 or more of the tabernacle workmen were served by ladies of the Methodist church. Today a committee of Presbyterian church ladies have charge of the lunch.

Appropos of the recent (or present) "hold-up" epidemic, a fine bit of sarcasm is the suggestion of the Sing Sing Bulletin, a paper published by convicts, that "it wouldn't be a bad idea to build a wall around New York City and keep all their crooks there, instead of sending them up the river to contaminate the inmates of Sing Sing."—The Outlook.

JENSENS OPEN NEW PLAYHOUSE

Robert Jensen, manager of the Palace Grand theater, reports that the opening last evening of The Raymond, the new Jensen theater in Pasadena, was a most gratifying success.

The new playhouse is situated on Raymond avenue and faces Library park. It is one of the largest theaters on the coast and is of beautiful design and architecture. It seats 2500 and every seat in the house is a good one, the projection being such that there is no distortion from any angle. The stage is the largest on the coast, the draperies and interior decoration are magnificent, and the lighting effects are very fine.

Fully 5000 people were turned away from the doors at last evening's dedication performance. Mr. Jensen reports.

MYSTERY CONCERNING MISS ANNIE STILLMAN

(By International News Service)

ELKHART, Ind., April 6.—Mystery concerning the whereabouts of Miss Annie Stillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman, principals in the latest sensational divorce case, appeared to have been solved today with the admission of Herman G. Keays that Miss Stillman is visiting at the Keays home here. Keays says that Miss Stillman is spending her spring vacation from school visiting with Miss Elizabeth Keays, his daughter.

Keays denied reports that were current yesterday that Miss Stillman had been in seclusion at the country home of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, at Island Lake, Wisconsin. He declared Miss Stillman came to Elkhart on March 29 and had been at the Keays home continually since then.

Miss Stillman and Miss Keays are pupils at the Westover school, Middletown, Connecticut. They were together on a tour of Europe last summer. Newspaper men who sought to interview Miss Stillman were refused permission by Keays, who declared that Miss Stillman did not wish to discuss the domestic affairs of her parents.

INVESTING LARGELY IN NEW BUILDINGS

R. S. Person commenced this morning a duplex house at 241 North Louise. On each side will be four rooms and a sleeping porch, with a hollow-tile dead wall between the two. The construction will be frame with mansard style roof. There is now a garage on the rear end of the lot, in which Mr. Person makes his home, and he will build another. He has had an application for one side of the house already. Mr. Person owns the lot just north of this one, on the corner, and he already has plans drawn for a fine two-story residence, a duplex with one front on Louise and the other on California. This will have a large basement and construction will be of the best. Mr. Person's children are all grown and prefer to present to remain in the old home, Elizabeth, New Jersey, but he hopes to persuade one of them, an engineer, to join him here. Mr. Person believes in Glendale with all his heart, hence his willingness to make such large investments here.

ANTI-SEMITIC CAMPAIGN IN ENGLAND AND AMERICA DENOUNCED AS PLOT

Princess Radziwill Writes Startling Article Supposed to Reveal Source of Anti-Jewish Propaganda as Work of Imperial Russia to Discredit Hebrews

By NEWTON C. PARKE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 6.—In a signed article appearing in the current issue of La Revue Mondiale, Princess Catherine Radziwill denounces the recent development of violent anti-Jewish propaganda in America and other English speaking countries as a plot instigated by former secret service agents of the late Russian Czar.

Their object, she says, is to discredit the Jews all over the world with a view to confiscating Jewish property in Russia if Bolshevism fails, and to create an anti-Semitic sentiment that will prevent them from prospering in business.

Princess Radziwill names some of the leaders in the alleged conspiracy, and mentions particularly one, a certain Mathieu Golwinsky, whose mother owned vast estates adjoining those of the princess in the province of Oufa. Golwinsky, she alleges, even visited her in her apartment on the avenue des Champs Elysees in Paris and tried to enlist her support.

Princess Radziwill directs particular attention to "revelations" contained in an anti-Jewish document, recently published in a London morning paper, which was carrying on an anti-Semitic campaign, and afterward reprinted in the United States, where it met with much condemnation. This document, entitled the "Protocol of the Wise Men of Zion," is purported to have been written by "Serge Nilus." As a matter of fact, she says, its authors were the celebrated Rachkowsky, former head of the Russian secret service under the Czar Nicholas; Mannasewitch Manuloff, friend and adviser of the notorious monk, Rasputin and of the Russian cabinet minister, Sturmer, alleged accomplice of the German kaiser, and Golwinsky.

"The person who inaugurated the campaign was a certain General Orgewsky, who for a short time was chief of the Russian secret service under Alexander II, father of Alexander III and grandfather of Czar Nicholas," writes Princess Radziwill. "Alexander III was greatly affected by the assassination of his father, which was organized by Russians of the better class. Orgewsky decided to turn the czar's attention from this fact and persuade him that his father was the victim of a Jewish plot and that the Jews had planned the assassination of other European monarchs."

Defender of Jews Protested

"To carry out his plans, Orgewsky sent agents to Paris to search the libraries and obtain as much anti-Jewish literature as possible. His orders were executed and he himself then composed a report purporting to show that the Jews constituted a great danger, not only for the Russian Empire but for the Christian world in general and that every government should take extreme measures to restrain the Jews and to keep them out of public life."

"But there existed in Russia a hierarchy to which even Orgewsky had to bow and before submitting his report to Alexander III, he had to communicate it to General Tcherewine, favorite of the czar and commander-in-chief of the police specially charged with the safety of Alexander."

"Tcherewine refused his consent to this abominable plot and would not permit Orgewsky's lying report to reach the eyes of the emperor, declaring that the time of the monarch was too occupied to bother him with stories of conspiracies which did not exist. Two years later—this occurred in 1884 or 1885—General Orgewsky resigned and his report was forgotten. General Tcherewine preserved one copy and he gave me another, which is still among my affairs at Petrograd if the Bolsheviks have not destroyed it."

Jews Systematically Blamed

"After the Russo-Japanese war it became evident that the country was about to pass through a terrible political upheaval, the result of the deplorable system of government which the emperor refused to renounce. Once more it became a question of blaming the Jews for this order of things, and a subordinate in the department of police remembered the report of General Orgewsky and deemed the time ripe to accuse the Jews of all the evils that threatened the safety of the empire."

"The scheme, engineered by a group composed of several high functionaries of the minister of police and the minister of the interior, consisted in transforming the Jews into a sort of universal danger and in attributing to them the sinister designs of overthrowing all existing governments. To give world-wide publicity to this idea, Rachkowsky, Manuloff and Golwinsky were sent to Paris."

"Because Golwinsky was the son of a wealthy Russian woman I had known in my home province, I received him when he called on me in my Paris apartment. I did not doubt that he was a secret service agent, but I received him as I would receive the son of any other country neighbor. He saw me frequently and met a small circle of my friends."

First Published in 1905

"One day, I recall very well, he told us that he had come to Paris on a mission for the Russian government with Manuloff, who was attached to the ministry of the interior. This mission, he said, was to manufacture a false document or 'protocol' purporting to give the history of the Jews through the centuries and representing the Israelites as the one great danger menacing European civilization."

"We laughed at him but he was very proud of his work and assured us that his reports would 'some day revolutionize the world.' Several times he showed us copies of the manuscript, written on yellow paper. I remember that a big splotch of blue ink had soiled the first page."

"The so-called 'Protocol of the Wise Men of Zion' was actually published in Russia in 1905 but received no attention and was forgotten. No one had ever heard of the mysterious 'Serge Nilus,' who was supposed to have written it. The famous document disappeared from sight until the other day, when it suddenly appeared in England and the United States."

"Against such a campaign I feel it the duty of all honest persons to protest. The Jews have proven too well during the recent war their patriotism in allied countries for any fresh attempt to be made to discredit them. Being one of the few persons who know of the origin of this famous document, I feel it my duty to tell what I know on the subject and to reveal how it was manufactured by zealous and dishonest agents of the czar."

MRS. A. M. WILLIAMS IS SECTION HOSTESS

Mrs. A. M. Williams, curator of the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, was hostess to the members of this section yesterday afternoon, at her home, 208 South Orange street.

The feature of the afternoon's program, a review by Mrs. E. W. Hayward of Walpole's "The Duchess of Wrex," had been anticipated with pleasure by members of the section. And no one was disappointed, for Mrs. Hayward handled the subject ably, giving a complete and concise resume of the story as well as an adequate exposition of the author's style.

Mrs. W. H. Verity read a well-prepared paper dealing with Mexico, its geography and the manners and customs of its people.

Current events were given by Mmes. F. M. Brown and C. E. Stanley.

The meeting on the April 19th will be addressed by Miss Vermilyea, a well-known eastern public speaker. Her topic will be "The World of Today."

The large attendance present agreed enthusiastically to boost for the evening of plays to be given by the drama section on the evening of April 21.

LADIES OF CHURCH HOLD CARD PARTY

A very congenial crowd of friends assembled at the White Inn last evening, where the ladies of the Church of the Holy Family were hostesses at a card party.

The prizes for the 500 game were won by Miss Elsie Buechler and O'Neill Farrell, while the whist trophies went to Mrs. J. A. McGowan and Tom Smith. This same group of ladies is planning a silver tea for next Tuesday, at which Mrs. Mildred Vogel, 525 North Jackson street, will be the hostess.

Refreshments were served at the close of the game last evening. The party netted the ladies $20.

Peter Clark MacFarlane Coming

Noted Writer Is Spending Summer Months on the Chautauqua Platform

Hiram Johnson is an ardent admirer of Peter Clark MacFarlane, the noted writer who is appearing on the Chautauqua platform this summer for the first time. Not long ago Senator Johnson said, "As a public speaker Peter Clark MacFarlane has few equals and no superiors. With rare oratorical power he unites real eloquence, and with these he has the happy faculty of describing and illustrating. I have been with many of those who are considered orators and great speakers but there are none I would rather listen to than Peter Clark MacFarlane."

The name of Peter Clark MacFarlane is one of the most familiar in the magazine world. He is a prominent contributor to the Saturday Evening Post, Colliers, The American and other leading periodicals of the country. He went into Germany with the Second Division, was with the Seventy-seventh Division on the Vesle and with the Marines at St. Mihiel. Out of his war experiences came, "African Golf," "Cross and Double Cross," "The Last Patrol" and "In the Enemy's Country," published in the Post and Cosmopolitan, and said to be among the best stories of the entire war period.

WOOSTER COLLEGE CO-EDS CAN EARN THEIR WAY THROUGH SCHOOL, THEY SAY

(By International News Service)

WOOSTER, Ohio, April 5.—Mere man has no corner on the business of working one's way through college.

Co-eds at Wooster College testify to this assertion in essays they have submitted to college authorities in a contest on "How I Worked My Way Through College."

Girls attending the college paid their expenses by performing various tasks, including cleaning house, ironing, waiting table, doing office work, caring for babies, doing laboratory work, doing dishes at college dormitories, tutoring and working in factories.

"I'm sorry, of course, that conditions make it impossible for you to float through college on 'flowery beds of ease,' but let me tell you, you'll enjoy school ever so much more if you pay for it all yourself," declares Miss Florence E. Wallace, of Wooster, a senior, whose essay was in the form of a letter to a friend to whom she divulged her experiences in working her way through school.

"Pocket Your False Pride"

Miss Wallace laid down three rules to which she adheres. They are: "First, pocket your false pride. Be proud only of being able to pay your own way."

"Second, take any job that offers, no matter how disagreeable, or poorly paid. That kind of work, well done, usually leads to something better."

"Third, let everyone know you are willing to work. It pays to advertise."

Miss Wallace said her expenses during her first year in college were less than $200. By the time her junior year was completed, her expenses reached $225. This year, which will include her graduation, she estimates $300 will be sufficient to meet all requirements.

Miss Wallace has earned money both summers and winters. Her favorite odd job is waiting table.

"I started when I was in high school," she confessed, "and I have become quite expert. I have served at the country club, at college affairs, at private dinners and at three summer hotels. I have worked on Saturdays at a shoe store, and later at a clothing store. The objection to Saturday work is that nearly all the college games and parties come on that day."

"I do not use a typewriter, but I have found office work to do. I have addressed thousands of envelopes. Last summer, prompted by the training I received in the science in which I am majoring, I procured laboratory employment and saved $200 during vacation. I have taken care of babies, done housework for faculty wives, and when I was a freshman, I worked in a factory one vacation and did sweatshop work at home for 12 1/2 cents an hour."

Always Enough to Do

"Like the widow's cruse, I've always abounded with opportunities for work. It seems as if I never need extra money without extra work appearing. Sometimes I've wished I were twins so I could do two jobs simultaneously. I've often been able to get work for other girls, and many of them have been kind in remembering me for the same purpose."

Miss Jean Wilson, whose parents are missionaries in India, has done some "domestic intervention" to "bring in the ducats," she said.

"Many of the good ladies of the community are glad to let someone play Martha for them at times," said Miss Wilson. "I have done it on a number of occasions. For anyone who likes housework, or cooking, there is an opportunity here for fairly steady employment." In the same connection I might mention the cherubic infants with which this town is richly endowed.

"They often need to be taken care of while 'mama' and 'papa' go out to dinner or club. Some of the children are quite adorable. Some aren't. But that's all in the day's work. I most enjoy taking care of them from 7:30 p.m. until 11 p.m. They sleep and I read. That's very convenient."

Miss Lucille Cumming, of Rockford, Ill., declares that giving her name to the college Y. W. C. A. employment committee when she came to Wooster two years ago has afforded her plenty of work.

Washing Dishes "Fun"

"The wife of a furloughed missionary wanted someone to help her get ready to go back to her work. So I gave her an afternoon a week which resolved itself into an ironing day. When other calls for ironing came, I accepted gladly. I spent Saturday mornings for one woman, cleaning house."

Washing dishes at the dormitory proved to be lots of fun. I spent an hour in the kitchen every night, washing dishes. Yes, but I was also getting acquainted with the other girls who work there. Being 'hall girl' proved delightful employment. The work was principally answering the phone and door bell."

"In my second year I tried living out in town and working for my board and room. I liked it, but it was too hard for me. Then I began working just for my room. That was much better. It gave me just enough of the home touch to keep my fingers nimble. I have also done some work as assistant to the college librarian, and a profitable path to the coffers of the world at large is through my stocking agency. I always find some girls who are needing hose. Last Christmas, we girls made dainty organdie flowers, in bouquets and corsages and found a brisk demand for them. I often earn extra money by typing theses, or book reviews, or things of that sort."

It is beginning to soak through the heads of a lot of statesmen that an excess profit tax is paid by the poor old ultimate consumer.

ROMANTIC HILLS OF PIEDMONT TO SEE DAUGHTER OF JOAQUIN MILLER WEB

The Child of California's Favorite Bard Lives in "Color Cycles"—Tells of the Rosary of Her Colorful Life—Unhappy Marriage Was "Red Period"

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

OAKLAND, April 6.—When the April moon mounts high in the heavens on the night of April 22 the man in the moon will take a squint at the doings down amid the timbered slopes of "The Hights," and smile broadly.

For amid the trees on the night of April 22, between the mystic hours of 10 and midnight, Juanita Miller, poetess and daughter of Joaquin Miller, famous California poet, with all of the ceremonials of the ancient Druids, is to wed her dream lover, "Juan" Miller.

And the man in the moon will chuckle because, seeing all and knowing all, he knows that Juanita and John—as he appears in the marriage record—were prosaically wedded by a justice of the peace at Redwood City last December. This prosaic procedure grated on the artistic sensibilities of fair Juanita, hence the romantic consummation "neath the full moon of her 'lily love.'"

And the man in the moon is also likely to risk a permanent squint in getting a good look at the wedding party, for Juanita is to wear a wedding dress which, she says, "was made in the hills of lilies, tears and moonlight."

The marriage of "Juan" and Miss Miller will culminate a love affair which started years ago when John Miller visited "The Hights" as a sightseer. The wedding will also complete a cycle of color periods through which Juanita said she was destined to live when a baby. Her marriage to Miller, she says, is the "white," or final episode of the color periods through which she has lived her life.

Trial Marriage Failed

Juanita has been married before. Two years ago, likewise in the fullness of an April moon, she contracted a trial marriage with John Reavis, wealthy mining engineer and bungalow owner in the Philippines. But they could not live together happily, so after a few weeks Reavis left for a trip to Texas and Mexico, which ended in the Philippines, where Reavis also had a "first love," according to Miss Miller. This "red love," as Juanita called it, ended with his departure, and in a letter received recently she was informed by a friend that Reavis died last June. This fact has not been completely established, but Juanita says, "I know it must be true."

When interviewed at "The Hights," above Oakland, a show place which overlooks the "Golden Gate," five great cities and seven counties, Juanita related the facts of her life from babyhood, taking in every period of her color cycle up to the return of "Juan," and the time of the wedding of her first, or "lily love." "The Hights" was built by Joaquin Miller when in the prime of life, and consists of several small houses, now tumble-down and decaying.

Serves Wine of the 70's

Juanita is not only a poetess, as her father was a poet, but is a housekeeper of no mean ability, and a master of the culinary art. Through living the "simple life," her hospitality is famous, her guests being served cake and candy of her own making and wine of the early 70's. Juanita's little house, a two-room, rugged affair, built for her by her father, is also in a state of decay. In one room Juanita sleeps and does her cooking, while in the other, which is furnished mostly with materials obtained from nature's fustle, she entertains guests. It was in this room, decorated with sweet smelling wild flowers she had gathered from the woods, antique furniture made by her father, a candle lamp, walls of burlap, a small triangular table made from limbs of a tree and a floor that was bare, that the interview was given. Juanita sat on a box covered with the skin of a wild animal.

"It was years ago," said Juanita, "that my life-story came to me. I seemed to fall into a trance while composing poetry. When I came to there was the complete story of my life, all written out. 'Twas a wonderful story. It told of the 'red love' from the Philippines. It also told of the 'lily white' love that would follow, of how my first lover would come suddenly into my life—leave for a while—and return triumphantly—which would be the final episode in my heart life. And it has all occurred."

Juanita told of how when a baby she had seen her father playing with a diamond ring, given him by the prince imperial, and that on seeing its changing colors, her first uttered word was "pree-chee," or pretty. The mother had seen the ring weave rainbows around the baby's head and knew by fancy that her child's life was to be a cycle of colors.

An Optimistic Fatalist

"I am now in the 'indigo' period, having been through all the others except the white, and am not certain of the white fulfillment, but have confidence, though all the other episodes have been utter failures. But still I am an optimistic fatalist and each time while surmounting a disappointing episode I have made a rosary symbolizing my last illusion."

Here she led her interviewer to a crude wooden case on the wall and exhibited rosaries of every color, except white, which she had made at the conclusion of each period in her cycle of color. "I have learned to say in truth, 'Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven,'" she said.

To explain each period of the cycle and the significance of each, Juanita composed the following poem:

"Pink, tulips of curiosity; red, Indian lights of Camp Fire Girls' desire;

Copa de Oras (yellow), of brief fulfillment; then green, of new hopes fire;

Blue, iris of ideality; violets, of modesty—

Indigo, poppies to lull despair;

White, lilies of an answered prayer."

In relating the history of her love with "Juan," and of how he came into her life, she said:

"When I was a little girl, studying in my tulip garden, I saw older people making love and kissing. I wondered when my tulip time was coming. Just then I kissed a tulip and a boy bounded over the fence and kissed me. That is the way I tell of 'Juan' first visiting 'The Hights.' I shall never forget that 'first' kiss."

To perpetuate the remembrance of the first kiss, she wrote this poem:

"Ecstasy of high vibration,
Electric cause of all creation,
Radiance of blinding bliss,
Before love's storm—the intense kiss."

But "Juan" soon left her life and for six years Juanita did not hear from him. In the meantime, she had her "red love" and married Reavis which proved a failure. During the six years "Juan" had been traveling land and sea and had written her once, stating that "the bird was flying and did not have far to go."

Then "Juan" made his appearance at "The Hights" and claimed pretty Juanita as his astral wife.

Finds Her Eighth Brother

Fate, the same which brought "Juan" out of the void and back to Juanita has cast a semi-shadow across the mind of the pretty lass. She had a dream recently which depicted Juan as her "quarter or eighth brother."

"But even if it transpires that he is my brother I do not think it will matter. Cleopatra married her brother, I believe 'Juan' has always dwelt in my sub-conscious mind. In fact, I feel I have lived with him mentally the last ten years," she said.

John Miller is 40 years old, ten years the senior of Juanita. He has sandy hair, like Juanita's father, and is an art photographer and world traveler, Juanita says. Juanita, short of stature, also has sandy or semi-brown hair and a smile that is fascinating.

The wedding will be a glamorous outdoor party. A special altar has been constructed for the ceremony, which will be according to the old Druid custom. The wedding ceremonial is to be weirdly dramatic, a mixture of Indian and primitive tribal coloring.

"Juan" will also be dressed in white, like his primitive bride, and will wear furs about himself, while Juanita will drape an Indian blanket over her shoulders.

Two kids—not the human kind—are to be roasted at a sacrificial fire. The guests, who will number 200, are either "passional" persons or "intellectuals." The "passionals" will carry red lights, and the "intellectuals" amber lights, while Juanita and "Juan" will bear white lights symbolic of the "lily" hue of the union.

"He loves the hills and likes to 'limb, as I do, and has promised never to insist on my leaving these hills. We are going to live here together in peace and happiness," said Juanita.

After the many trials and disappointments of her "colorful" life, Juanita said she hopes for happiness in the white light, and has written this poem of it:

"As He rose so may we arise,
Washed white with tears, to Paradise,
From our dead selves, from night we pass,

To light, like the flowers from dank grass."

LOCAL BODY MAY JOIN THE UNITED STATES CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Rhoades Makes an Itemized Financial Report—Advertising Committee Planning "Trade-at-Home" Campaign

The formal report of the meeting of park superintendents, which he attended as representative of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, was submitted by Richardson D. White at the luncheon of the directorate Tuesday. In it he stated:

"The gathering was a very representative one, including delegates from all the cities of any size in Los Angeles county and many from other counties of Southern California.

"The chief subject of the conference was automobile camp grounds, but many references were also made to city parks, and I must admit that as your representative I had nothing to say. I might have arisen and stated that we did not possess these necessities of a really modern city, but I was unable to see what good could be accomplished by confessing our shame, so I said nothing.

"As to the management, these camps are conducted in various ways, some being municipally owned and controlled, and still others are directly in charge of the local chamber of commerce.

"It is only natural therefore that there should be a wide diversity in the rules governing these camps as to prices, time of occupation and amount of space allowed each camper, conveniences furnished, etc.

"It seemed to be the sentiment of the conference that there should be some uniformity in these matters and a committee was appointed to thoroughly investigate and be prepared to make a report at another conference to be called later.

"There is one thing that I wish to state emphatically in this report and that is that the auto camp ground is a paying proposition. Nearly every one reporting at the conference stated that the revenues far exceeded the cost of keeping up the camp, providing attendants in charge, giving the campers free water and electric light and in some cases, even fuel, wood or gas. This is altogether aside from the money that the campers spend in town. For instance, Alhambra reported that $177,000 was spent in that city in this year last year."

From a table of statistics which Mr. White had prepared, he drew the statements that Anaheim limits the stay of its campers to 18 days, Los Angeles to seven days without renewal the current year, and Santa Monica one week in summer and two weeks in fall and winter. Alhambra charges 25 cents a day each machine, Anaheim gives free occupancy for the first four days and then charges 50 cents a day, and Los Angeles charges 50 cents a day and the revenue from this source in six months was $1023.

The Alhambra conveniences are fairly luxurious—hot and cold water, a laundry building, toilets, gas and electric lights. Los Angeles furnishes a bath house, gas and laundry tubs.

A meeting has been called at Long Beach, April 12, to consider uniform rules, regulations and equipment, and Mr. White was asked to select two other members of the chamber to serve with him on the auto park committee and to attend that meeting. He stated that the rules to be discussed would include registration of names of party, name and number of car, other camps which they had visited and length of stay, to determine if they were "floaters," drifting from one camp to another for cheap rent.

The conveniences furnished should be such as would be covered by a charge of 50 cents a day.

A custodian should be in charge of the grounds at all times and make reports to police and health officers of all persons requiring investigation.

The establishment of private camp grounds should be subject to municipal or county control through the issuance of a permit. All camps should be subject to police and health regulations.

There was some talk of possible Glendale sites and Mr. White suggested one at the east end of Los Feliz road where there are one or two acres backed by a wash which are not of especial value.

SOUTHLAND HOME MISSIONARY WORK

The general interest in the demonstration meeting of home missionary work in Southern California carried on by the Methodist churches, was demonstrated by the large attendance at afternoon conferences in the First Methodist church of this city Tuesday. The program opened at 9:30 a. m., with devotions conducted by Mrs. E. Hoskyns. They were followed by a missionary education demonstration conducted by Mrs. Sweet, secretary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, who introduced two ladies completely garbed in missionary literature. The little orphans of the David-Margaret home at La Verne entertained with songs and recitations, and girls of the Francis DePauw school demonstrated that work with Spanish-speaking peoples pays. Dressed as a Yuma Indian, the secretary of that department told of work on that reservation, of the fine church that has been built there and the many converts secured. The "efficiency card" showing what has been accomplished was demonstrated by an umbrella parade of corresponding secretaries, each umbrella decorated with a different color and bearing significant statistics. Japanese women and children from the Japanese home in Los Angeles sang songs, and two native Bible workers brought from Japan made talks. There were many other interesting features including a fancy drill by little tots known as "Mothers' Jewels." The church was gaily decorated with the bright banners of the various departments and activities of the society and at noon a lunch was served.

PRAISE WHERE DUE

The good old minister naturally wished to speak to all who had participated in the benefit concert, and, happily, could praise the efforts of most of her volunteer performers with sincerity and truth.

"And Miss Hightry?" some one asked, "Did she sing well?"

The old gentleman hesitated, then smiled beamingly.

"Miss Hightry's intentions were excellent—splendid—most to be admired!" he declared enthusiastically.

Some men come into the world making a nose, drift through life making a bigger one, and pass out with a distressing one. After that—we don't know.

VENDOR PROVES TO BE RARE SONGBIRD

By WALTER C. MERRITT
PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 6.—

Michael Vellelunga, the golden-voiced huckster of the aristocratic Oakland section of Pittsburgh, will be heard no more here. He has quit huckstering and gone back to grand opera at the famous Scala Opera house in Italy whence he came some years ago when he lost his voice through too strong medicine prescribed by a doctor.

But the memory of that sweet voice will linger a long time among the many housewives who made haste to get out doors to hear arias from "Faust," "Il Trovatore," and "Carmen," as good-natured Vellelunga came up or down the street. He came here unknown and left in almost as high esteem as some of the noted singers. Indeed some of Oakland's residents will tell one that Vellelunga had a voice in power and sweetness almost comparable with Scotti or Caruso.

Vellelunga formerly sang at the Scala Opera House, one of the finest in Italy and in Europe, but inflammatory rheumatism kept him in bed for a year and when he emerged his great voice was gone. Strong medicine had ruined it.

He had a brother in Pittsburgh, in the fruit business. So he came to Pittsburgh. He bought a huckster wagon and attended the fruit sales at Twenty-first street and bought modest stocks carefully. Then he invaded Oakland, where fine homes abound. Hucksters there are as thick as flies in summer time. Competition was keen. The others were known; they had their friends. Vellelunga was an interloper. But he persisted.

Sings "Carrot" Aria

One day in a spirit of more than usual cheerfulness he began to sing a song of carrots, bananas and cauliflower. It was a remarkably sweet voice that huckster sang in. Vellelunga was as amazed as any of those who heard him. His voice had "come back." The next day he sang an aria from "Carmen." He sang splendidly and attracted much attention. Business with him grew by leaps and bounds. Everybody soon looked for that singing huckster.

Songbird Says Good-Bye.

Here in Pittsburgh he had a host of friends and they eagerly looked for his return three times a week and they called him the "Italian songbird." Many of them even invited him to dinner and to sing in their parlors. Others offered him wine. What a life!

In 1919 the "flu" laid him low and his old attacks of rheumatism came back. Doctors arrived at his home in droves, all sent by his fair customers. He recovered, and there were salvos of applause when he once more boomed out that "Torreador" song.

Now he smiles, bids his friends good-bye, taxis to the depot. He is going back home to the wife and kid he left behind when adversity hit him hardest. The huckster is done. It's back to grand opera.

When he comes to Pittsburgh again, some day, there will be an audience awaiting him just as large and enthusiastic as the one which recently greeted Mary Garden. But Mary is an outsider. Isn't Vellelunga Oakland's own? Out in swell Oakland they will tell you he is and that he is just as nifty a singer as anything Mary Garden brought along to Pittsburgh from Chicago.

The largest edifice in the world was the Coliseum at Rome. It took 60,000 laborers ten years to build it.

BILL TO PROHIBIT LICENSING ALIENS

(By International News Service)
SACRAMENTO, April 6.—Senator J. M. Inman's bill, aimed at the Japanese engaged in the fishing industry on the coast of Southern California and specifically prohibiting the issuance of deep water fishing licenses to all aliens ineligible to citizenship, was reported out with a favorable recommendation by the senate fish and game committee.

The VanCamp Packing Company of San Pedro and other representatives of the southern fishing industry appeared in opposition to the bill and made the statement that over 80 per cent of that industry was now carried on by the class of aliens prescribed in the bill. Passage of the bill, they said, would mean the destruction of the industry. It was in response to their protests that the bill was amended to include only ineligible aliens instead of "all aliens" as Inman had originally written it.

Representatives of the Japanese exclusion league of California argued in support of the bill. Inman's bill was virtually a duplicate of a bill introduced early in the session by Senator Yonkin. Yonkin allowed his bill to rest in committee because of objections from the southern packing interests. The Inman bill does not cover fishing in inland waters.

AMERICA'S LOYALTY SERVICE TO FRANCE

(By International News Service)
PARIS, April 6.—The text of the American note to Germany, published here today was hailed with jubilation by the French press.

"Germany, checked in her attempt to win President Harding's support," says the Petit Parisien, "will probably cease her evasions. America's loyalty renders a great service to France."

Le Petit Journal says: "Germany trying to evade her debts, forgot that commercial honesty is one of the greatest American virtues."

The only skeptic is "Pertinax" who objects to America's suggestion to Germany to submit new propositions. He says all that is necessary is that Germany accept the decision reached at the recent conference in London.

BACK TO COMMON HONESTY

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, finding it necessary, in the interest of business stability and prosperity, has promulgated certain ethical rules, the observance of which will, it believes, restore a business confidence that is lacking and avoid disastrous distrust and misunderstanding.

The cancellation of contracts is the business epidemic against which this national trade organization is just now directing its energies. The ethical ideals it urges as a cure for business timidity and distrust are these:

"Draw contracts in conformity with the law of the state in which they are completed or accepted—making the obligations of both the seller and the buyer equitable.

"Provide in contracts for arbitration in case of dispute.

"Stand for 'Golden Rule' policy, taking less if necessary to demonstrate you mean it.

"Without preaching, keep before your employees and your trade continuously the value of good will built on kept promises.

"Take an advanced stand personally for American business integrity."

Common integrity, business honesty and commercial recognition of the Golden Rule, as founded on sound business policy, are thus presented to the master minds of the American business world as the true basis of enduring prosperity.

Putting it another way, nothing is permanent that is not reputable. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States ends its search for the real foundation of uninterrupted prosperity in the homely old principles of common morality.—Los Angeles Express.

CANCER TO BE FOUGHT WITH X-RAYS

Cancer is one of the giant diseases and it has hitherto baffled medical skill. But physicians, with characteristic optimism, have refused to accept defeat in dealing with it. We welcome eagerly every sign that indicates even the least progress in treating this trouble. The announcement that Dr. William Duane, professor of biophysics at Harvard, working in collaboration with research students in physics, has made it possible to secure more penetrating X-rays than hitherto obtained and that the new rays will be used for the time in America for the alleviation of cancer will seem to all humanitarians the greatest piece of news recently written. The announcement says: "While it is emphatically stated by Professor Duane that neither X-rays nor radium should be considered a permanent cure for all kinds of cancer, it has been long known that radium has a marked alleviative effect upon this disease, and the Harvard physicists have reason to believe that the effects of the new highly-penetrating X-rays will be equally beneficial."

DON'T FAIL TO BE COURTEOUS

When a pretty girl walks along the street many male eyes are upon her.

Nine out of ten will admire her in a clean-minded manner. The tenth man will make some sort of pert remark. Of course, it is not his sister, or he would not make such remarks. He might even be ready to fight if he heard any other man make them about his relative.

These tenth men may not mean any real harm. Often they are only thoughtless and inconsiderate, never remembering that the other fellow's sister is entitled to the same courtesy they demand for their own.

Ours is a reasonably fair community in this respect. It would be ideal if the tenth man would think before he speaks.

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT CAN DO

The government cannot create business except in a state of war, or by going into the taxpayer's pocket to fix prices higher than the law of supply and demand.

It can only help business by relieving it of burdens of taxation and regulation. Given the home markets and markets abroad to sell surplus products, business and production will and must take care of itself.

Americans are tired of being socialized, paternalized and politicalized to death.

HOW IS THIS AS AN ODE TO SPRING?

Speaking of poetry, why even the salesmen from the city break into rhyme when they reach Glendale. A representative of Bass-Hueter Paint Company calling at the Glendale Hardware Company and commenting on the large stock of paint carried by the local firm, ended by saying: "Then stay at home, and save your time and carfare to the city. Help to make your own town grow, with stores well kept and pretty. It's no use having buildings large, with heavy rents to pay. If when you've got some cash to spend you up and run away."

ADVENTIST P. T. A. TO HOLD SALE

The sale will be a miscellaneous one, in which candy, jelly, cooked foods, garments and other articles will be sold.

The film record of this unique event was presented last evening at the Glendale theater through the courtesy of James W. Horne. Among the participants in the aviation picture who were present in person last night were Mary Miles Minter and Ruth Roland. Miss Roland has just recently returned from an extended eastern trip where she appeared in person in many theaters. She says she was royally received, but is glad to be back in California, nevertheless.

"INDIANS" START THE SEASON CRIPPLED

(By International News Service) MOBILE, Ala., April 6.—The world's champion Cleveland Indians will start the American league season crippled, it was learned here today following their appearance in a practice game. An X-ray examination of an injury to Bill Wambegans, second baseman, revealed a broken bone in his wrist. He will not be able to play in the opening game, physicians said.

SOCIETY ISSUES MONTHLY PAPER

The Young Peoples' Christian Endeavor Society "B" of the Glendale Presbyterian church are rejoicing over the fact that they now have a real society paper. The first issue was published April 1 and circulated among the members after their meeting Sunday evening. The name of this new publication is "The Busy B." Sabin Buck, 112 South Jackson street is the editor and Mary McDill and Lloyd Culver are his able assistants. "The Busy B" will be published on the first of each month and will contain items of interest to the society members and their friends. The first issue is a decided success, containing news from the recent Los Angeles County Christian Endeavor Convention at Whittier, the recent social and business meeting of the society and news of the coming Glendale State Christian Endeavor Convention. Much credit is due Sabin Buck and his efficient staff for the first edition and the society is looking forward to the first of May when the second will be forthcoming.

HANDSOME DISPLAY IN SHOW WINDOW

Bartlett & French, auto dealers, have on display in one of the windows of their salesrooms at 201 South Brand boulevard, a most alluring demonstration of an auto trailer and camp outfit that those of us who feel the impulse to go a-gypsying would delight to take with us on one of these spring days when breezes are soft and skies are fair, and we hie us away to some woodland scene, where wanders a stream with banks of green.

A comfortable bed, protected by a tent, a folding table and chairs, dishes and other modern camping conveniences, are contained in this auto trailer outfit. The display shows a camping scene with the table set, the coffee pot and the frying pan of eggs on the coals, and the bed made up ready for the tired travelers as soon as they have finished the meal.

ENTERTAINED BY MRS. CANFIELD

The Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club was entertained at its regular meeting on Monday, at the home of Mrs. C. L. Canfield, 519 Oak street. Mrs. O. E. Von Oven, the curator, presided.

The fourth act of the "Comedy of Errors" was studied by the large number of the members of the section who were present at this meeting. This play will be finished at the next meeting of the section, which will be held at the home of Mrs. H. B. Howeth, 329 North Orange street.

Plans were made to review "The Taming of the Shrew"; the section also plans to give a series of teas for the benefit of the clubhouse fund.

A dainty collation was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Alfred Cookman.

Before the regular meeting, members of the section rehearsed scenes from "The Taming of the Shrew," which they will give as a program number at the Pomona convention. This rehearsal was held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, 415 South Central avenue.

RESOLUTION TO END WAR WITH GERMANY

Will Contain Declaration of Policy Toward Germany's Future Militarism

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 6.—With no apparent opposition coming from the White House or state department, Republican leaders in the senate are going ahead with plans to end the war with Germany by passage of a resolution. Unless direct orders to the contrary are received from the White House this week the Knox resolution will be reintroduced soon after the senate convenes next Monday and pushed to a vote.

It was learned today that President Harding has not discussed at any length the subject of peace by resolution, with members of the foreign relations committee.

In his informal conversations, however, the President has not indicated the passage of the Knox resolution, was in another way incompatible with the administration's wishes.

Secretary of State Hughes, so far as is known, has not expressed an opinion on the desirability of peace by resolution.

The peace resolution, however, has been the subject of long and earnest conversations between Rene Viviani, the special envoy of France and Republican members of the foreign relations committee.

When the purpose and interest of the Knox resolution were fully explained to M. Viviani, and he was assured that when finally presented it would contain a "declaration of policy" notifying Germany that the United States would regard future German militarists moves as directly menacing American interests, the distinguished Frenchman is reported to have thrown his hands aloft in a characteristic gesture and exclaimed "Voila!"

Assurance that the resolution will contain a strong note of warning to Germany and probably a declaration of friendship and support to our late allies has practically done away with French opposition. M. Viviani is reported to have said that his government would regard with high satisfaction such a declaration by the United States senate. That the passage of the resolution will be opposed strenuously and bitterly in the senate itself is already apparent. The Republican sponsors of the measure, however, are confident that it will pass after a sharp fight.

SIGNED AGREEMENT TO LEAVE COUNTRY

Attack of Bronchitis Makes It Impossible to Leave Before End of Week

By LUCIEN JONES

Exclusive Cable to International News Service and London Daily Express
STEINAMANGER, Hungary, April 5, via London, April 6.—Charles, emperor of Austria, has actually signed an agreement to leave Hungary "for the good of the country," but an attack of bronchitis makes it impossible for him to leave before the end of the week. The whole affair is expected to be settled not later than Saturday.

Hungarian Foreign Minister Graz arrived from Budapest this afternoon and pointed out to the ex-ruler that he had "gone too far." Charles then signed, in the presence of Graz and Count Sigray, governor of West Hungary, an agreement to leave Hungary, which read:

"Owing to the external situation, I consent to leave Hungary, believing it to be in the best interests of the country that I should not remain here."

The news of the agreement was immediately communicated to Budapest and the actual document was taken to Admiral Horthy, the Hungarian regent, by airplane.

According to those who are in close touch with Charles, his hand was forced by the allies' ultimatum, conveyed through the council of ambassadors, that under no circumstances would a Hapsburg be allowed to resume the throne of Hungary. The recent demobilization of the Hungarian army in accordance with the peace treaty is also said to have had a determining influence on his course.

The date of his departure is uncertain owing to his illness. Doctors say he will have to remain in bed at least three days—which would mean until Thursday—and a British physician who was called into consultation pronounced that he was suffering from bronchitis and was unfit to travel for a few days.

At times one suspects that laziness is the mother of invention.

DRAFT DODGER TO BE INVESTIGATED

Appointment of Committee to Be Demanded by Representative Julius Kahn

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Determined to get at the bottom of the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the millionaire draft dodger, Representative Julius Kahn of California announced today that he intended to demand of the house in the next session the appointment of a special committee to make a thorough investigation. Kahn has been balked twice in a similar effort. Resolutions for an investigation into the escape of Bergdoll, introduced in the house at the last session of congress were permitted to die.

"The people are entitled to know how Bergdoll made his escape from his military guard at Philadelphia and the details of his flight through this country into Canada and thence to England and Germany," said Kahn.

"If he had help in making his escape it should be known and the persons helping him should be known."

"From his retreat in Germany," continued Kahn, "this draft dodger has been sending out statements flouting the American authorities and the American government. He has repeated former statements that he was let out of his military prison to go in search of a 'pot of gold' after promising to pay Americans to secure his release, a reprieve and freedom. His statements should be proved to be false or they should be cleared up in such a way that they will cast no reflection on American officials, legal or military. I shall do all in my power to bring about an investigation of this matter by congress and will introduce a resolution for the investigation by a special committee of congress immediately after the opening of the session on Monday."

URGE GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF MINES

By EARLE C. REEVES

L. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 6.—When Premier Lloyd George opened the debate on the great coal strike in the house of commons yesterday afternoon he proposed that the coal mines remain under government control for another month to allow time for a settlement of a dispute between the miners and owners.

The International News Service learns from an authoritative source that this will be the government's proposition. It was the return of the mines from government control to private ownership that led to the present semi-paralysis of the kingdom's industries and the threat of the railway men and transport workers joining the 1,200,000 idle miners. For the change was promptly followed by attempts on the part of the mine owners to revise the wages downward.

Meanwhile the crisis is gaining an ever firmer grip upon the nation's industries and the mine tie-up is marked by increasing violence.

Wild rioting was reported early today from the collieries near the little Scottish mining village of Denhar, in Linlithgowshire. There are crowd of 500 striking miners overpowered the guards and attacked the workers who had refused to walk out.

Four policemen and several employees were injured.

AMERICAN PEOPLE TO PROVE GRATITUDE

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The American people want to prove the public's gratitude to the men who served in the world war, President Harding declared today in a letter addressed to the committee headed by Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, which he has appointed to investigate the measures for relief of disabled service men.

The President advised the committee, which is holding its first meeting here today, not to investigate the intent of the laws providing relief, declaring that it is well understood that the laws intend to "deal justly and generously" with the veterans, but he urged the committee to inquire thoroughly into the "failures to care for these men" and "abuses" which may have arisen.

MASS MEETING ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Citizens Summoned to Act on Report of the Advisory School Committee

A mass meeting has been called for Thursday night of the present week at Intermediate school to hear the recommendations of the advisory committee appointed by the mass meeting of March 3 to consider ways and means of relieving the congestion in city schools.

Oliver O. Clark is the chairman of that committee which will make definite recommendations both as to buildings and grounds. It is expected that the citizens in attendance on that meeting will act on the report, either modifying, rejecting, or accepting it. The committee will recommend:

That an intermediate school be built somewhere in the south end of the district;

That additions be made to the following grammar schools: Acacia Avenue, Colorado, Pacific Avenue, Columbus and Doran street, and that a two-room school be constructed in the Verdugo canyon, provided a site is donated;

That additions be made to the grounds of the following schools: Colorado, Acacia, Doran and Columbus;

That the two semi-basement rooms at Central avenue school be improved so as to be usable as school rooms.

In case the mass meeting approves the recommendations relative additions to the schools named, a further recommendation will be presented that district lines between schools be so shifted as to relieve crowded conditions at the following schools: Cerritos, Pacific Avenue, Colorado, Broadway and Central Avenue. If the recommendation in regard to Acacia is carried out, that school will have six rooms. By increasing that district to take in part of Cerritos, Broadway and Colorado, all those schools would be relieved. If Columbus is so enlarged that it can take more pupils, the line between it and the Central avenue district can be moved to relieve Central.

Another new apartment house is to be added to the city. Walter C. Seal is building the new structure on Cypress and Walnut street. Elmer Elliot is the contractor.

A new six-room bungalow is under construction at 1634 South San Fernando road. The building is being done by M. E. Hathaway.

SACRAMENTO, April 6.—In response to the protests against the decision of the state railroad commission granting an 8 per cent increase in gas rates to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company administration leaders are seeking a means of having the commission reopen the case.

Assistant City Attorney Leon Gray of Oakland will be asked to make formal application for the rehearing in behalf of the city of Oakland and consumers on that side of the bay.

Chester Rowell, recently appointed to the railroad commission, came to Sacramento Monday night to confer with Governor Stephens and to explain the commission's finding. Rowell said, in effect, that the increased tax rates fixed by the legislature under the King tax bill, were "as a matter of course" considered part of the gas company's operating expenses and therefore as a legitimate basis for increasing rates to consumers.

This took the breath away from a number of legislators who had been ardent supporters of the King bill and who said they had voted for it with the understanding that the increased taxes would not be "passed along to the consumers."

Following Rowell's arrival a conference was held in the governor's office, attended by administration leaders of both houses and Roy Fellom, who introduced a resolution "calling the railroad commission to account."

Following this conference Rowell issued a statement in which he said: "The resolution of the tax element in this case does not differ from the part played by all tax bills in all discussions of this and all other commissions from the beginning."

In the Pacific Gas and Electric Company case gas rates were increased on average of 7.2 per cent. The new tax rate was considered as an operating expense in making up the rates.

The principal reason for the increase in the gas rate was the increase of the price of oil, since oil is the principal element in the production of gas.

In the gas case the tax increase covered only about one-fourth of the entire increase and will amount to the average domestic consumer to about five cents a month.

"If the price of oil goes up or down, subsequent proceedings are provided for to change the price of gas accordingly."

Notwithstanding Rowell's statement Fellom said that many of the members of the legislature considered the decision of the railroad commission a "betrayal of the people who had given their support to the King bill in the belief that the corporations and not the consumer would bear the increased tax burden."

Fellom added that his resolution on the gas case would not be pressed for adoption pending the result of efforts to have Assistant City Attorney Gray reopen the case.

YOUNG MAN LEAVES FOR LONG CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Bradbury of 429 Lincoln avenue, were surprised and delighted, Thursday to receive a visit from their son, Claude A. Bradbury. The young man is third mate on the ship Wauetche, a new freight and passenger ship, that made its maiden trip from an eastern port, through the Panama canal, landing at Los Angeles, Thursday. He joined the crew of the ship at Philadelphia, after graduating from a school of navigation in that city. Mr. Bradbury served in the navy during the war. He made seven trips to France, three to Scotland, one to Chili, and one to England. To the regret of his parents he was forced to join his ship at once, leaving Friday for a long cruise. The boat will touch at ports in China and Japan.

BURTON & CHANDLER MAKE LOT SALES

Burton & Chandler report the sale of a lot on Wabasso way to Mr. Dewey, a mining man of Colorado, who has not yet arrived, but who telegraphed Mrs. Dewey, who is here, to make a selection. She did so and expects to soon improve it with a home. The property carries with it a building restriction of $5000, and cost $1700.

The same firm sold three lots on West Park avenue Monday to Mr. Gordon La Barr and four lots on the same street to Frank C. Eby.

As it might be written: "In the second round Dreadnought Dubb fainted with his left. In the seventh round he fainted with his right. In the ninth round he fainted all over."

BENEFITS OF THE COUNTY UNIT RULE IN OUR COMMON SCHOOLS

County Supervisor Dodge Advocates Its Establishment as a Means of Securing Greater Efficiency and Also Reducing Taxation—Average Attendance

The question of county unit school rule which has been tentatively discussed within the past few years is being advocated by County Supervisor Jonathan S. Dodge as a means of securing greater efficiency and of effecting saving in taxation. In an open letter, he says:

Do the taxpayers of Los Angeles county want to save $1,000,000 during the coming year? This can be done by organizing a county unit system for the management of the schools of this county. As it stands at present, there are 153 elementary school districts and 26 high school districts, all acting independently of each other and being managed by separate authorities.

A survey of the cost of education in Los Angeles county shows that in some districts the cost per pupil varies in the elementary schools from the lowest, $46.17, to the highest, $530.64, figured upon the average daily attendance. In the high school districts the average cost per pupil of daily attendance varies from $134.80, the lowest, to $549.96, the highest. The average cost per pupil for education in the entire county of Los Angeles is $162 in the elementary schools and in the high schools $330.50 per pupil.

In the school district of Los Angeles, the cost of education per pupil in the elementary district is $111.10 and in the high school district, $273.48. These figures are given to show the tremendous variation in the cost per pupil under the present system of education.

Average Attendance

When we consider the average daily attendance, we find some schools are overcrowded, while others are being run with a very small number of pupils in attendance, the variation just as marked as in the cost. We have districts where the assessed valuation per pupil is, for instance: Watts school district, $2268 while only a few miles away the assessed valuation per pupil in La Puente district is $204.043. The average for the entire county runs variation being an average attendance of the minimum of five pupils, and from that up to a maximum of more than 40 pupils.

When we come to consider the assessable value upon which local taxes are to be raised in each district, for educational purposes, we find about $10,000 and we find that Los Angeles city is assessed at about this average amount.

If an assessment was made of the maximum limit allowed by law there would be raised for each pupil in Watts, for instance, the sum of $13.61, while in the La Puente school district the amount raised would be $1216 per pupil.

Anyone familiar with the business management of the schools of the county would at once say that something was radically wrong with the present system.

County Unit Plan

The board of supervisors feel that the solution of this situation is the adoption of a county unit plan, whereby a standard not only of business management might be maintained, but also a standard of educational facilities. The bill introduced in the state legislature, and which is intended to remedy this situation, provides for the election of five members of the board of education, who shall serve full time at a salary of $5000 per year, and who shall have full charge and management of all of the schools of this county. This board will be elected by the people at large, and will have full power to appoint superintendents, teachers, business managers, and, in fact, not only manage the schools, but control the expense of every kind.

It is not unusual at all for the school trustees in small districts to purchase school supplies at a price four times greater than a price paid by the school trustees of large districts. The new plan would place the purchasing agent of the county, and would not only standardize the supplies, but would decrease the cost in probably all of the districts of the county.

All educators agree that every child within the borders of this great county should have equal facilities for securing an education, and by this plan a standard of education would be provided that might be applied to every child of school age, thereby giving the children in the sparsely-settled country districts the same educational advantages as those now enjoyed by their city cousins. The tendency of modern times is to congregate in congested districts, and neglect the children who are located in the far distant places.

The intention of this enactment would be to equalize the tax burden throughout the entire county, not to limit a rich district with a large property assessment and few children to escape the burden of helping to educate the children of other districts of the county where the assessment for taxes might be extremely low.

Education of our children is bigger than a local or district problem and it is a small enough unit to apply the same to a county. In fact, California has always followed the plan of state-wide education, and the state of California has always supplied a large portion of the funds necessary to maintain the public schools.

The plan of a unit school system seems to have been recommended by Will C. Wood, state superintendent, in his report to the governor, and was especially commended by the special legislative committee on education appointed by the senate. It was also endorsed by the supervisors' association of the state of California, and by the county school superintendents of the state, and the fact is recognized by all educators as the correct principle upon which to furnish a uniform standard of education at a minimum cost to all those of school age residing within the county.

ATTITUDE TOWARD LEAGUE OF NATIONS

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 6.—Republican leaders of the senate today expressed gratification that the visit of Rene Viviani, former French premier and now envoy to the United States, has resulted in crystallizing the avowed purpose of the majority of Republican senators and representatives to support the Knox resolution for peace with the central powers by congressional resolution.

Conversations Viviani has had with Republican senators regarding the senate's attitude toward both the League of Nations and the Knox resolution can have left no doubt in his mind, they say, as to where the Republican leaders of the senate stand on them.

UNIFICATION OF GLENDALE SCHOOLS

Difficulties in Way of Establishing a Junior High
Are Explained

Speaking of the project advanced by Charles L. Chandler for a junior high school which would take the ninth grade pupils out of the high school and which would also include the intermediate pupils, i.e., seventh and eighth grades, Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, states that there would have to be considerable alteration in the present system to effect this change. The high school and elementary school districts would have to be equalized and come under one system. That would mean that the high school district would either have to contract or the elementary school district expand. If the high school ceased to be a union high school and became Glendale high school under the board of education provided for it in the new city charter, it would not exclude the pupils who now come from La Canada, La Crescenta, Eagle Rock or Casa Verdugo. They would still be affiliated as at present and pay their proportion, but the change could not be made without a ballot of all the voters in the district.

Another way by which this union could be brought about would be for the union high school board to take over the intermediate and the seventh and eighth grades at Cerritos, leaving the elementary district with only the six grades.

Our situation here is unusual, Mr. White says. Alhambra, South Pasadena, and the majority of cities the size of Glendale, have a unified school system.

RETURN FROM MOTOR TRIP TO SAN JOAQUIN

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Adams and their three sons have just returned to their home, 153 South Pacific avenue, from a motor trip to the San Joaquin valley, where they were the guests of Mrs. Adams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith.

One of the most enjoyable incidents of their visit was a family reunion at the Smith home, which brought together three sisters and a brother and their families, making 24 at the large banquet table spread in honor of the event. One of the sisters, Mrs. Elvin Gregg, was formerly Miss Nellie Smith, a teacher in the Pacific avenue school in this city.

The Adams family report a most enjoyable trip through a country lovely with the beauty of springtime. Yesterday the three boys got out of the machine to enjoy a snowball fight by way of contrast.

R. T. W. CLASS HOLDS MEETING

The R.T.W. class of the First Baptist church held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Morrow, 516 West Doran street.

The devotionals were led by the president, Mrs. Jewsbury, and there was a short business session. The topic of the afternoon was "Motherhood." Mrs. Grover Adams had charge of the program and gave an interesting talk on the topic of the day. Several articles and poems on the subject were read, and Mrs. J. Ray Bentley sang a beautiful solo, "Mother."

Another appropriate feature of the day was that each member brought a gift suitable for a layette which is to be given to a sick friend.

Refreshments of hot cinnamon rolls and coffee were served at the close of the session. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Emma Sudlow, 202 East Garfield avenue, on May 3.

NOTED GUESTS AT CARNATION LODGE

At the meeting of Carnation Rebekah Lodge, held Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall, members were surprised by a visit from Mrs. Viola Grant, district deputy president, and Mrs. Della House, grand warden. With them came a party from Edelweiss Rebekah Lodge of Los Angeles.

The noble grand of Carnation being absent, Vice Grand Rosella Strothers officiated, with Sister S. A. Anderson acting as vice grand.

Four candidates were elected to membership by transfer and one by application. The lodge also had visitors from Bellingham, Washington, Misses Marie Meher, Jessie Billingsley and Clara Whipple.

After the regular order of business was completed interesting talks were made by the district deputy president and the noble grand of Glendale Lodge No. 338, R. M. McGee.

A committee on entertainment for the next meeting was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Rose Strothers, chairman; Mrs. Mollie Cleland and Mrs. Alice McGee. At that time the members elected at this meeting will be initiated.

RANK OF KNIGHT IS CONFERRED BY K. OF P.

AMERICAN LEGION WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Matters of interest to the organization were discussed informally and refreshments of coffee and sandwiches were served by Meses. James F. McBryde, E. P. Hayward and George E. Clayton. At the next meeting, April 15, Commander Burton Fitts will be present and speak and it is hoped that every member will come out to hear him.

THE BUSY MICROBE

As busy as a hired man,

As steady as a drummer

Or as a big electric fan,

Remorseless as a plumber,

The festive microbe works away

And doesn't get a cent of pay.

It never stops to make a kick

Nor on the job goes striking,

Nor roars if it can't turn the trick

Exactly to its liking,

But always keeps its lick intense

Without a cent of recompense.

As rapid as a railway train,

As patient as a river,

It works away with might and main

On stomach, lungs or liver.

It never walks around the block.

Nor wastes time looking at the clock.

Once on a time that honeybee

By all was counted busy:

'Tis now the microbe, as we see,

Who sets a pace that's dizzy.

If we could follow in his ways

We'd all get rich in thirty days.

—Anonymous.

A TIME FOR ALL THINGS

There's a time to part, and a time to meet,

There's a time to sleep and a time to eat,

There's a time to work and a time to play,

There's a time to sing and a time to pray,

There's a time that's glad and a time

that's blue,

There's a time to plan and a time to do,

There's a time to grin and show your grit—

But there never yet was a time to quit.
